

NCEXTENDI Writing Assessment—Grade 10

What are the purposes of the NC Testing Program?

The North Carolina Annual Testing Program is a requirement of General Statute 115C-174.10. As stated, the purposes of North Carolina state-mandated tests are “(i) to assure that all high school graduates possess those minimum skills and that knowledge thought necessary to function as a member of society; (ii) to provide a means of identifying strengths and weaknesses in the education process in order to improve instructional delivery; and (iii) to establish additional means for making the education system at the State, local, and school levels accountable to the public for results.”

The North Carolina Testing Program, effective with the 2000–2001 school year, was expanded in response to the Reauthorization of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) to include a system of alternate assessments for students with disabilities. Based on the guidance and requirements from the U. S. Department of Education (USED), the NCEXTENDI was developed to assess students with significant cognitive disabilities on the grade-level North Carolina Extended Content Standards in reading and mathematics at grades 3–8 and 10 and in science at grades 5, 8, and 10. The NCEXTENDI also assesses students in writing at grades 4, 7, and 10. The NCEXTENDI replaced the North Carolina Alternate Assessment Portfolio effective with the 2006–2007 school year.

What is measured by the test?

The NCEXTENDI Writing Assessment—Grade 10 assesses the writing components of the grade-ten Extended Content Standards of the English/Language Arts North Carolina Standard Course of Study (NCSCS) adopted by the North Carolina State Board of Education (SBE) in 2004. The test consists of one writing prompt with a total of seven associated performance items. Each student is individually administered the writing prompt and the seven performance items.

A description of each of the Extended Content Standard goals that are assessed and the percent range of items for each goal are shown in the table below. Each item is also aligned to a thinking-skill level from the cognitive taxonomy described by Marzano et al.

How is the test administered?

The NCEXTENDI Writing Assessment—Grade 10 is individually administered to eligible students during a designated testing window in March. The assessors use professional judgment to determine an appropriate length of time for each student’s test administration. The NCEXTENDI Writing Assessment—Grade 10 may be administered in one session or in multiple sessions over several days.

Each item has a script that is read by the assessor when presenting the item to the students. For the NCEXTENDI Writing Assessment—Grade 10, the writing prompt and its items may be read as many times as necessary and the writing prompt may be read before administering each item, unless otherwise noted in the test directions.

How was the test developed?

The writing prompts were created by NCDPI/Technical Outreach for Public Schools (TOPS) English/Language Arts/writing content specialists. The prompts contain content appropriate to the writing goals at grade ten. The writing prompts and items assess students in grade 10 on the informative mode of writing.

The items were written by NCDPI/TOPS English/Language Arts/writing content and test development staff. The items were reviewed and revised by trained, practicing North Carolina teachers and educators specializing in the areas of exceptional children, general education, and limited English proficiency during the 2007–2008 school year.

What kinds of scores do students receive on the test?

Students receive an individual student report (ISR) containing a scale score, achievement level ranking (I, II, III, or IV), and descriptions of student performance associated with each achievement level.

How does Edition 2 differ from previous editions of the test?

This edition of the NCEXTENDI Writing Assessment—Grade 10 contains seven on-demand performance items with all items administered to all eligible students. This edition of the NCEXTENDI Writing Assessment—Grade 10 also contains presentation scripts.
