

Navigating North Carolina's Student Accountability Standards

* Re-test to ensure the low grade was not a fluke.

 Review process can be initiated at any point, but can only be requested once per child per year. Local policies may allow for additional appeals of promotion decisions.

Special Notes: Students promoted without passing the end-of-grade tests must have personalized education plans to address their specific needs. Principals are required to report the number of students promoted without meeting state standards to the State Board of Education.