Input Process:

Data were collected mainly via the USDDC web-based disciplinary data collection system; however, a few charter schools submitted spreadsheets and a few LEAs and charters used third-party vendor software. NC WISE schools entered data into the WISE disciplinary data module, and these data were later transferred into the USDDC. All data were compiled by Technical Outreach to Public Schools (TOPS), Urban Affairs & Community Services, North Carolina State University. Statistical analyses performed by TOPS produced the tables and figures used in the report. Agency Operations and Management provided summaries and compiled the final report.

Stakeholders:

State Board of Education, General Assembly, Department of Public Instruction and public schools
